1. Tron Participation has collated a list of books we use for inspiration and feel would be helpful to use within your classroom.
 - Drama Games – Jessica Swale
 - Book of devising theatre – Frantic Assembly
 - House of Games – Chris Johnston
 - Drama Games (for those that say no) – Chris Johnston
 - Games for actors and non actors – Augusto Boal

2. Tron Participation mainly uses the devising process when creating work with children and young people. We find inspiration from
 - Music
 - Photographs
 - Poems
 - Book synopsis's
 - Props
 - News paper headlines

If you are looking for a starting point to create drama why not try one of these

3. On occasion we look to Theatre practitioners for inspiration –
 - Augusto Boal
 - Peter Brook
 - Robert Lepage
 - Stanislavski

4. If you are looking for a show to do with your pupils check out –
 - Shell Connections anthologies

These anthologies have put together with a selection of the best plays for young people. Well worth a read if you are looking for something new to do with your pupils.
